30 years of excellence!!

2026 is the club's 30th anniversary year!

The club was started by our founder Brian Zimmerman in 1996 in Westlake Village. He coined the phrase "Fish with Friends" And his 90th birthday was January 13! Happy Birthday Brian.

Our next meeting, on February 4 should be a good one. Tucker McCombs is our guest speaker, he will talk about fishing the islands this year.

At this meeting, Charter Master Rick Lane will take full payment for those who sign up for the April trip. Come early for dinner, we expect good attendance. We had 45 members and guests at the January meeting.

The Santa Barbara County Fish and Wildlife Commission: Comments on Proposed MPA Petitions

The Santa Barbara Fish and Wildlife Commission is a county commission consisting of nine members appointed by the Santa Barbara County Board of Supervisors. The commission, among other things, aids the county board on active fish and wildlife related matters with our combined hundreds of years of local fish and wildlife experience between our fellow commissioners.

This comment letter (links below) serves to provide our input regarding the current MPA petitions requesting changes be made to the MPA network specifically around the Santa Barbara Channel and Channel Islands. We feel our county fish and wildlife commission's input on the MPA petition process may prove especially valuable due to our local experiences and local understanding of the ecosystem, as well as our variety of backgrounds, consisting of non-consumptive users, fishermen, and biological scientists. This letter serves as a culmination of many public meetings learning about the MPA petitions that have been proposed as well as fellow commissioners observations being involved in local discussions about the petitions outside of official meetings to gauge public input and sentiment. This county commission appreciates the opportunity to provide the following feedback on these local MPA petitions.

LADIES!!! LET'S "GO FISH"!

Although the 2nd charter is not an "official" ladies charter we ARE still trying to get a lot of our lady friends to go out and fish for one day! I know when I tell my girlfriends that I went fishing - they are amazed and mention that they want to try fishing too!

It's a "one-day" event, same-day charter (not an overnighter) – and a great way to see if our "girlfriends" might also enjoy the sport of sportfishing in our wonderful local waters! So share the new with friends or email me, Cece Rubin for more info at: vcsc.webmaster@gmail.com – or contact Rick Lane and book the trip, email Rick at: venturacountysportfishingclub@gmail.com

If you've never fished before, myself, Kim and the club guys will help us out! They're the best and want us to "catch fish!"

NOTE: club has fishing rods & reels WE CAN LOAN you for FREE! You'll just need to buy a license, hooks and sinkers!

WHITE SEABASS

GROW-OUT PENS ~ LATEST REPORT

On Saturday January 24th we began the reconstruction of the White Seabass pens. A large group of volunteers worked together to tear down the above water structure and haul it off to the dump. We intend to begin covering over the open pen that will not be used however we found from some of the construction guys there that the method we were going to use was not optimal so we need different materials. We have those materials now and will continue over the next few weeks. Watch for my calls for additional help. Next effort will be Saturday 1-31-26 at 9am. (*note: email went out to club members on Jan 28).

Jimmy is available to do the framing of the deck, if anyone is available to assist him please call or text him at 805-901-5924.

WHITE SEABASS GROW-OUT PENS

Robert Groeber worked on the pens and took a few snapshots of the day's work. Looking forward to hearing from Frank Sullivan on volunteer opportunities soon! If anyone would like to reach out to Frank, his contact info is listed below!

TUNA SUSHI & SASHIMI CUTTING GUIDE

Based on insights from experienced sushi cutters across Reddit communities

Essential Tools

- Sharp Knife: A razor-sharp blade is non-negotiable. A traditional Yanagi-ba (single-bevel) knife gives the cleanest cuts. Keep the blade slightly wet to prevent sticking.
- Cutting Board: Use a stable, sanitized board large enough for long slicing strokes.

Preparation

- Thaw & Dry: If using frozen tuna, thaw fully and blot with paper towels to remove moisture and blood.
- Remove the Bloodline: Trim out the dark red bloodline — it carries a strong, metallic flavor.

Cutting Techniques

- Saku Blocks
 - Form Rectangles: Break down the loin into rectangular saku blocks for consistent slicing.
 - Cut Against the Grain: Slice the blocks so the final sashimi pieces are cut against the grain for tenderness.
- Sashimi
 - Slice Thinly: Aim for 5-7 mm slices (thickness varies by preference).
 - Use One Stroke: Pull the knife through in a single, smooth motion — no sawing.
- Nigiri
 - Rice Portioning: Use a small, uniform amount of rice for each piece.
 - Shape Gently: Lay the tuna over the rice and shape with light pressure.

Additional Tips

- Practice: Precision improves with repetition.
- Quality Matters: High-grade, fresh tuna dramatically improves results.
- Handling Fatty Cuts: For rich cuts like o-toro, pair with something sweet or spicy to balance the fat.

Brian Nguyen “the cigar afishinado” & the “medicare guy”

Never one to bemoan the end of rockcod season, I love this (upcoming) time of year!

Winter structure fishing for sandbass, sculpin, and whitefish!

Casting distance and accuracy, the feel game, when/why/how to downsize or upgrade your presentation, and pull like a motherf*$%er!

You can use whatever you like! I just prefer....

9-foot Graphite or Composite Rods:

- Casting accuracy and distance
- Sensitivity to stay in contact with structure
- Move more line on a sweeping hookset

White color Spectra because my aging eyes see it better in gray light or in the dark (in the case of Twilight trips).

8ft Fluorocarbon topshots. I can cut off and change weights or rigs several times before the topshot gets too short ...think efficiency.

Follow Brian on Instagram > click here

The Detailed Breakdown:

The 30# Power Rig:

- I keep a 1oz or 1.5oz B52 Bucktail tied on here. For bigger fish or if they are reacting better to a more aggressive presentation, it's on like Donkey Kong and the bucktail gets licked!

The 25# Standard:

- I fish a sliding sinker on this anywhere from 3/4 to 1.5oz because on some trips, they eat this better than a leadhead. I can also set this up with a dropper loop if needed, or fish a lighter line presentation with a leadhead.

The 20# Finesse'r:

- In colder water with little to no conditions, I slow down my presentation and fish a lighter 1/2oz to 1oz banana leadhead. I prefer a banana leadhead such as the ones made by Leadmasters to a bucktail simply because I like how they lay vertically on structure to facilitate my slower presentation. I can also switch to a slider with a small hook and squid strips in really touchy bites.

One of my favorite styles of fishing that can be done on local 1/2 and 3/4 day boats! A great way for a novice to continue learning, and for an experienced angler to keep his/her line wet! Give your local landings a call in the New Year and make those reservations!

FEBRUARY: SEARED TUNA WITH SPICY MAYO

Recipes by Jay Ducote | Food and Cooking
Photography by Collin Richie

Seared Tuna with Spicy Mayo is a game-day showstopper that takes tailgating to the next level. Fresh Gulf tuna gets a sesame seed crust and quick sear, then pairs with a creamy Cajun-spiced mayo for bold, crowd-pleasing flavor. Easy to slice, share, and serve, this dish is perfect for tailgate spreads where you want to impress without the fuss. | PDF DOWNLOAD

Ingredients:

- 1 pound fresh Gulf tuna
- 1 tablespoon soy sauce
- 1 tablespoon sesame oil
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 1 tablespoon sesame seeds
- 1 tablespoon black sesame seeds
- 1 teaspoon granulated garlic
- 1 teaspoon kosher salt
- 1 tablespoon cooking oil
- $\frac{1}{4}$ cup mayonnaise
- 1 tablespoon Slap Ya Mama Cajun Pepper Sauce
- 1 teaspoon garlic salt
- 2 tablespoons finely sliced green onions

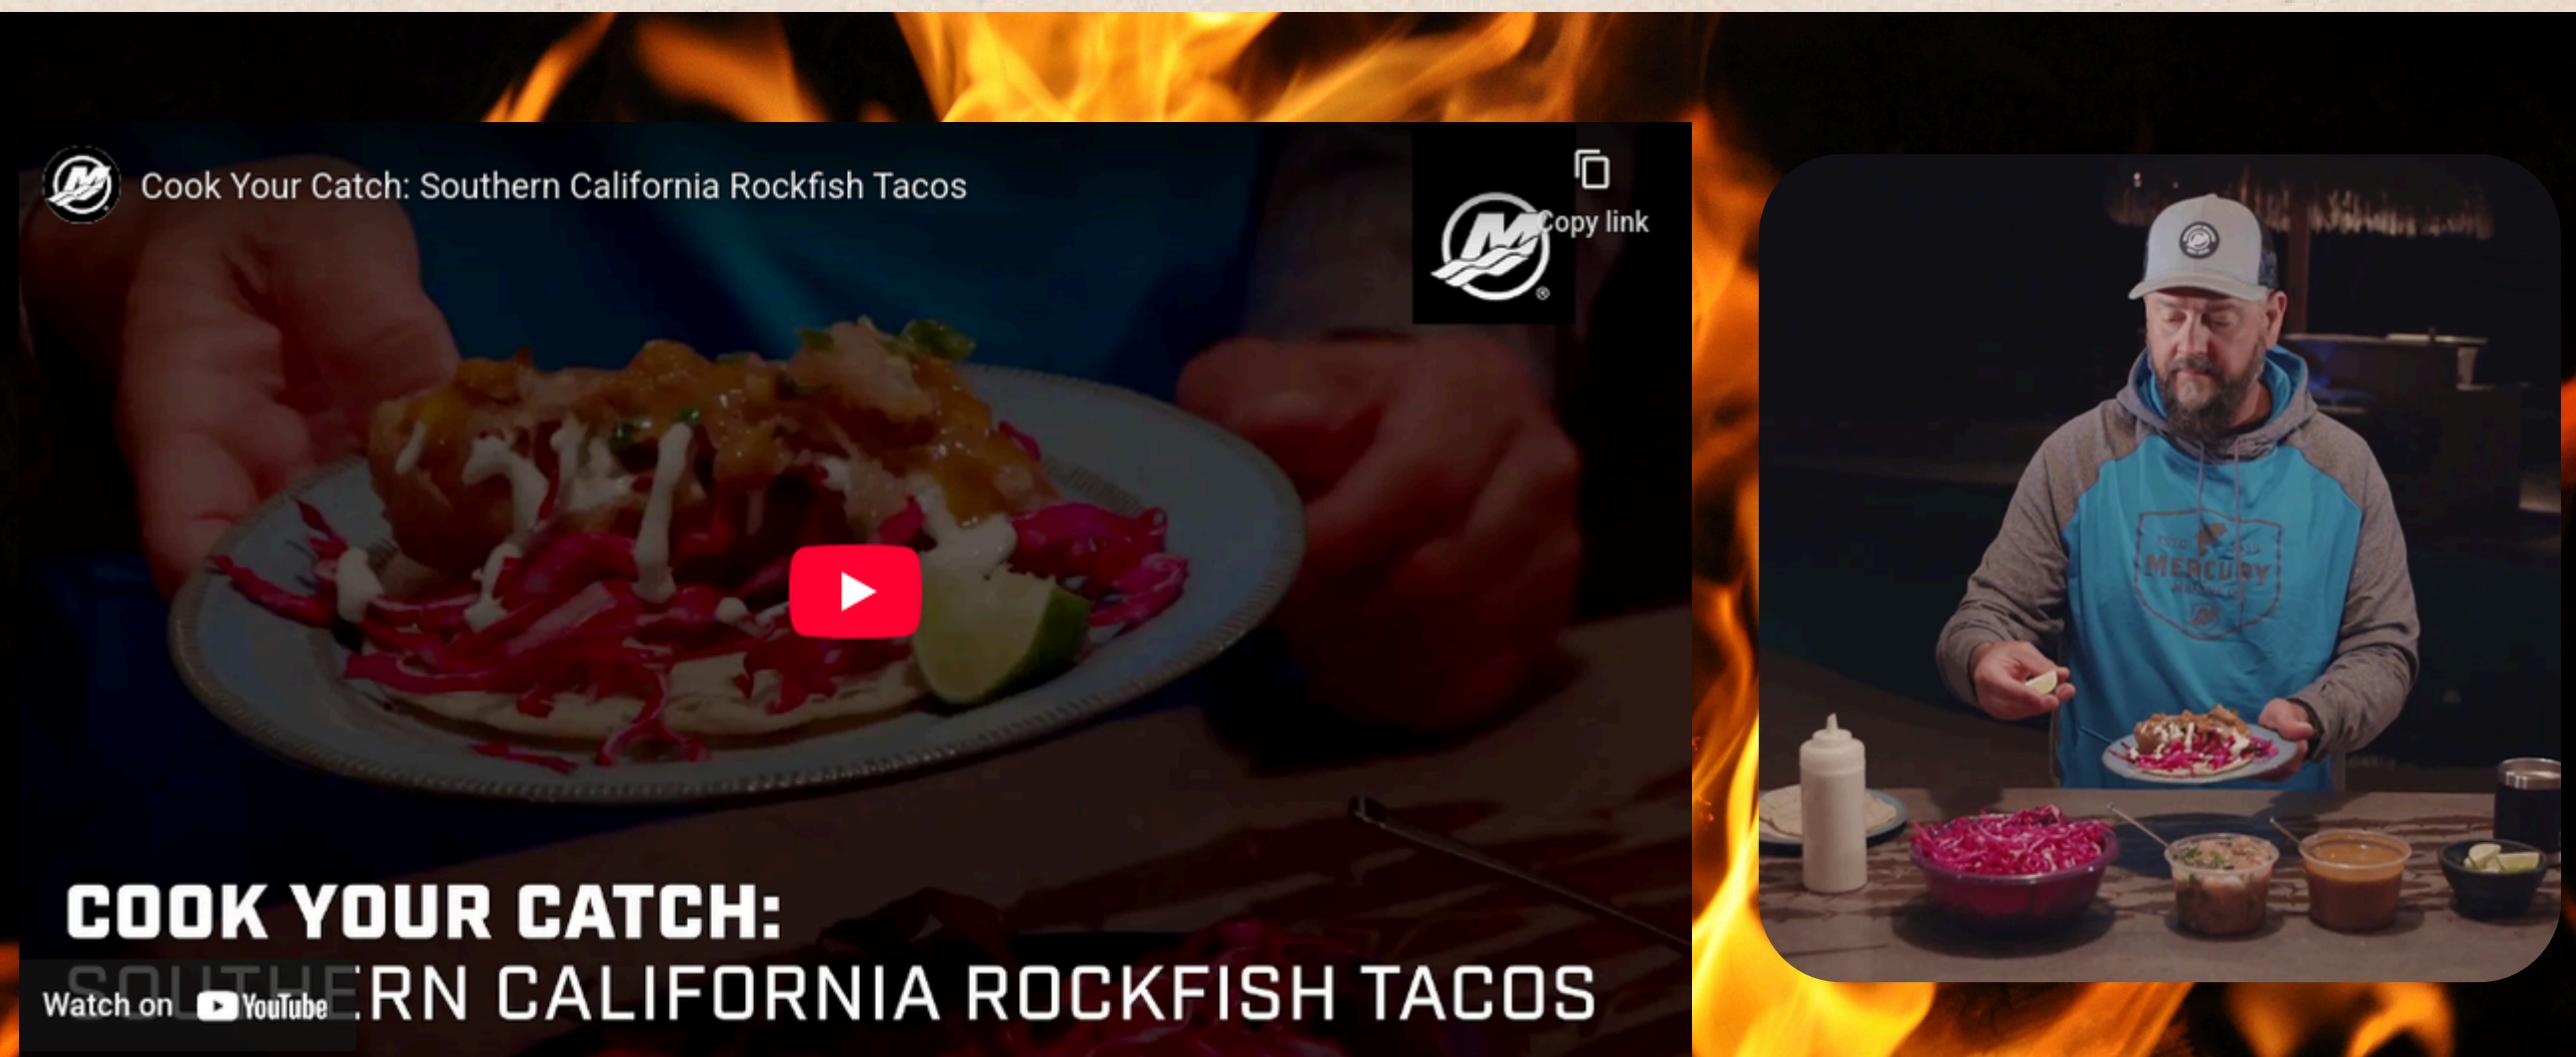

RECIPE LINK

Instructions:

1. Remove any skin from the tuna and then coat all sides in a blend of soy sauce and sesame oil.
2. In a shallow bowl, mix together brown sugar, both types of sesame seeds, garlic, and kosher salt. Press the tuna down into the spice and seed mixture to coat it; repeat on each side of the tuna until it is entirely covered.
3. In a well-ventilated kitchen or outside, bring a frying pan to high heat and then add the cooking oil. When very hot, place the tuna down and sear for approximately 1 to 2 minutes and then flip it. Repeat on all sides until each surface is seared. Remove the tuna from the heat and allow it to rest.
4. Add mayonnaise, pepper sauce, and garlic salt to a small bowl and stir to combine.
5. Slice tuna and plate. Garnish with green onions and serve with spicy mayonnaise.
