August 2026 VCSC President's Report

We had a great time at the club BBQ at the Camarillo Grove park on July 19.

Brian Nguyen trained 12 members on the magic of casting. I can say from personal experience that his casting seminar is well-worth taking. We plan to invite him again next year.

Club member Mike Pruner won the grand prize, the $750.00 combo for San Diego long range fishing. Michael StaffordCrane won the $500.00 voucher to fish the Royal Star and William Talunas won the $250.00 certificate from Hyun's Tackle in Ventura.

Vice-President John White talked about the opportunity for members to buy clothing with the club logo. He had some samples to share, and gave us the web site for ordering the swag. Information will be provided in every Chumline issue.

The meeting was well-attended. Past Club President Chuck Brinkman BBQ'd the hot dogs on the charcoal grill. And people picked up donated used gear, and fun was had by all.

The next monthly meeting will be held at the Black Bear diner in Ventura, on August 5. Phil Friedman is our guest speaker. Great speaker, with lots of good info about the history of Southern California salt water fishing. The meeting starts at 6:30, come early (5:30pm) for food and drink.

MONTHLY MEETING - Wednesday - Aug 5, 2026

Phil Friedman is a lifelong Southern California sportfishing veteran, outdoorsman, educator, and media pioneer whose deep roots in the water began at the tender age of 12, when he started as a pinhead (entry-level deckhand) aboard the iconic Redondo Special out of Redondo Beach, California. This early hands-on experience on the half-day boats sparked a passion that has defined his entire career.

Phil Friedman also founded 976-TUNA in 1985. Today, he hosts Friedman Adventures, a thriving platform with over 100,000 followers across YouTube, Facebook, Instagram, Apple Podcasts, and Spotify — sharing daily fishing intel, adventures, food, travel, and his commitment to getting people, especially youth and underserved communities, out on the water.

Our meetings are free and open to the public! You just need to purchase a meal/dessert of food item and a beverage. Easy Peasy! www.vcsc.info

WHITE SEABASS GROW-OUT PENS | REPORT

Channel Islands WSB Grow out facility update July / August 2026

On July 12 th shortly after sundown we released approximately 6500 Juvenile White Seabass from pen 2 into the harbor by dropping the containment net in the dark on the outgoing tide. The next morning, we released the remaining WSB from pen 1 by transferring the fish in hand nets to the bait wells of the Gentleman Commercial Passenger Fishing Vessel from Channel Islands Sport Fishing landing. Many thanks are due to Captain Donnie Rowell and his crew as well as the volunteers who showed up to help transfer the fish. The Gentleman released the fish offshore from Mandalay Beach.

We are now cleaning the containment nets so they can be ready for the next growout season tentatively scheduled for next spring. Jimmy Fillo is taking the lead in cleaning the containment nets. We have a couple of pressure washers available, but it will take some time and extra hands to get them cleaned. Please call or text Jimmy at 805-901- 5924 if you can help, he will schedule a time with you.

READER REPORT: Kayak angler beat odds and bests tanker white seabass off Gaviota ~ June 15, 2026

BY LONG LIU, WON Staff | Sign-in & read online + more photos!

GOLETA – At 5 a.m. I dragged myself out of the tent, set up camp, and rigged the kayak. Despite my early start, I didn't make it onto the water until 9:30 much later than planned. I launched into pretty big waves, five footers, but with good timing I made it out unscathed. Thanks to some intel from Kei Vang, I was able to make bait quickly and had one on the bottom by 10 a.m.

Not two seconds after it hit bottom, something absolutely crushed it. I assumed it was a nice halibut, but we'll never know because it popped off after only a few seconds. The bait came back completely shredded.

With only one other live bait left in the well, I sent the dead bait from the first strike back down and started trolling toward the area Kei had recommended. Five to ten minutes later, my line took off in the opposite direction. "Fish on"

Whatever it was, my Tranx 500 couldn't slow it down, so I decided to chase it down. The fight felt like it lasted forever, and the entire time I was convinced I had hooked a big shark. After what seemed like half a dozen blistering runs, I finally saw color.

"Damn shark." ---- Then I looked again. --- "Holy s---t! , that's a giant white seabass."

At that moment, I became more religious than I had ever been in my life, praying to every god I could think of to help me land that fish. My excitement quickly turned to panic when I realized my gaff was gone. I must have lost it during the launch.

GAVIOTA GHOST – Long Liu with a white seabass of a lifetime.

After a few seconds of pure horror, I calmed myself down and decided I was going to grab the fish by the tail, just like I'd seen Field Trips with Robert Field do so many times in his YouTube videos. As soon as I reached for it, I realized there was no chance, it was simply too big.

I regrouped once again and decided to go for the gill plate. I braced myself for a violent thrashing the moment I touched it, but the fish was completely spent. I got a solid grip, slid it across my lap, and had it secured without much of a fight. One quick poke with my scissors to the head and the battle was finally over.

The fish of a lifetime. Another species checked off the bucket list, and a day I'll never forget.

NOTICE: Inseason Recreational Ocean Salmon Closures Announced for California's North Coast

Inseason Recreational Ocean Salmon Closures Announced for California's North Coast

Attention recreational anglers – the National Marine Fisheries Service has taken action today, July 28, 2026, to close or modify ocean salmon fishing seasons for portions of California's north coast. The Klamath Management Zone, which includes ocean waters between the California/Oregon border and 40°10' N. latitude, is now closed. The Fort Bragg Management Area, between 40°10' N. latitude and Point Arena, will open August 1 and continue through August 9. The remainder of the August dates previously scheduled for the Fort Bragg Management Area are now closed.

In the Klamath Management Zone, the California Department of Fish and Wildlife's preliminary estimates indicate that 3,968 Chinook salmon were taken by 4,830 anglers aboard both charter vessels and private skiffs, achieving the area's recreational harvest guideline of 3,900 Chinook salmon.

In the Fort Bragg Management Area, preliminary estimates indicate that 4,352 Chinook salmon have been taken by 6,208 anglers to date. This leaves 748 Chinook salmon available in the area's harvest guideline of 5,100 Chinook salmon when the season reopens on Aug. 1, 2026. Recent trends in catch rates and angler effort indicate that the Fort Bragg recreational harvest guideline will be met by the August 9 closure.

Inseason actions such as season closures are developed in consultation with the California Department of Fish and Wildlife, National Marine Fisheries Service, members of the Pacific Fishery Management Council, and representatives from the fishing industry.

For the California coast south of Point Arena, the spring/summer recreational fishing season will resume August 1 for the San Francisco Management Area and continue through August 31 or until the harvest guideline of 34,900 Chinook salmon is met, whichever is earlier. The Monterey Management Area remains open until August 31 or until the harvest guideline of 21,800 Chinook salmon is met, whichever is earlier . . . READ THE COMPLETE ARTICLE / CLICK HERE

READER REPORT: Late Start, Lifetime Memories: Georgia Kids Land 330-Pound Bluefin on First Trip of the Season

By Capt. Chuck Newberry, Seadawg Sportfishing

AVALON — Every year, I get asked the same question: “When are you finally going fishing?” Most of our buddies are chasing bluefin the minute the reports start lighting up. Meanwhile, our 37-foot Freeman, Wahooson, usually sits tied to the dock while everyone reminds me how many fish I’m supposedly missing.

I hear it every season.

“You’re late.”

“You’re blowing it.”

And usually, they’re right. But we like to remain patient and time our strikes methodically. For our first trip of the year, 16-year-old Tristan Fife—the son of a good friend of mine—took it upon himself to organize everything, with a little funding from his dad. He also convinced his buddies, Harrison Callies and Easton Stewart along with Scott Smathers and Andrew Ta, that it was time to leave SEC country behind and come experience California’s giant Pacific bluefin. The three proud Georgia Bulldogs fans traded Athens for Avalon. We joked that when the SEC shows up in California, the fish that are “built different” show up, too.

It turns out we were right. > Sign in and read the WHOLE article on WON!

THE 360 APPROACH TO SPORTFISHING: FOLLOW YOUR FISH!

As I follow my fish along the rail, the angle shift of my movement also creates slack line. I use this as an opportunity for an easy line pick-up but more importantly, to keep tight to the fish. Walk and wind...heck I'll walk and ATTACK MY REEL HANDLE - no slack!

Following your fish is like entering weaves made up of other anglers, lines, deck hoses, boat anchor, etc., of which you must go through and learn to unweave yourself from. This means you need to stay mobile. In the beginning of the fight with the fish full of confidence, I want it to settle in (somewhat) before I settle into the battle.

When it's time to move, time to go over/under, right/left, doing so efficiently is critical to not only your success, but the success of your fellow anglers. As long as the fish is mobile, my feet stay mobile, and my rod stays mobile. And then it's time to beat the $#it out of it's message.

THREE BASIC HUMAN SENSES USED TO FOLLOW YOUR FISH:

- Sight: Keep your eyes open to potential problems
- Hearing: Listen to where the crew tells you to go, or not to go.
- Touch: Know what it feels like to have another line on you or when your line is going slack.

"YouTube" RECIPE OF THE MONTH | August 2026

Another great night on the water hoopnetting for lobsters in Long Beach, CA. We successfully hunted down 3 nice sized keeper California spiny lobster. Back at the dock, we turned our fresh catch into simple, homemade lobster rolls — fresh lobster meat, lemon, chives, celery, and a light touch of mayo on buttery toasted buns. From ocean to table within 24 hours. It doesn't get much better than that!
